The Condition of Mexico.

[From the Canjeston Mercury, June 18]

The condition of this country has almost ceased to attract attention, till very occast dealocance in the acting and the attract attention, till very occast dealocance in the acting and the state of revolution. We have these indications both from the Pacific and from the States bordering on Texas; and seme advices from a reliable source in the interior show that the government of Santa Anna is tottering and rumbling to its centre.

The Dictator has disap sointed all parties. The circumstance of his recal led to the hope that he would be able to restore peace to a distracted country, to give system and efficiency to the internal administration, to revive commerce, which had nearly perished under the oppressive restrictions and bad fath of procesing administrations. The republicans believed that for the sacrifice of some liberty, they should gaie order, the security of property, and the revival of the national spirit.

The menarchists believed they should gain a firm and consistent centralized government. The former have found a tyranny severe beyond all former precedent, without the compensation of order, system at a administration, or security of property. The menarchists olse over that the representative of their principles, with a manivest enough desire for the distinction, has neitoer courage to assume the crown, nor ability to which the power.

That Santa Anna simed at restoring the empire in Mexico does not admit of a doubt. His procedure, we carefully copied from those of Louis Napoleon. Only in place of the great Anpoleon of Aris, the brain and heart of France, and a half million of disciplines, which they prove the second prove the discipline, whose belef moment of power was followed by exile, a return without parties, and death without representations, the constraint of the feature of the fea the freedom of trade; and the last accounts state that even the pretence of a blockade has been discontinued.

This practical independence of one State, and the powerful appeal it has made to the old republican and State rights ideas of the Mexicans, have profoundly agitated the people throughout the country. The adjoining State of Michoacan has pronounced in favor of Alvarez, and in an encounter with the government forces, is said to have gained a decided advantage. From many towns and districts, the Chief of Guerrero has received assurances of support, and he has already opened communications with nearly all parts of the country. The central government is full of trouble and fearful forebodings. Extraordinary efforts are made to strengthen they the severest restmints on the press and liberty of speech. By special edicts it is made a crime, variously punished with death, imprisonment and fine, to speak disrespectfully of his Serene Highness, or to report that his armics have been defeated, de., de. Those are symptoms of weakness and terror, and will be so interpreted even by his own populace. Vera Cruz is so strongly suspected of disaffection that it has been declared in a state of siege, and thus the disaffection made sure of. The States this side of to Sierra Madre are ripe for revolt, and already scarcely acknowledge the supremest of the central government.

The secret of this early decay of the power of Sarta Anna seems to be the intense and narrow selfichces with which he has used his opportunitien. The recret of the power words intend at the Sarta Anna seems to be the intense and narrow selfisheess with which he has used his opportunities. There were a few brave words uttered at the commencement of his government, and with these it was expected to satisfy the Mexican people, who had heped so much from his experience, his ability, and his patriotism. If they have been bitterly deceived in him, he has been scarcely less so in them. They fondly looked for the renovation of the nation at his hands; instead of this they have gained a narrow souled and cowardly tyranny. He tooked for the teme submission of a people wearied with revolution and exhausted by anarchy, and has found after a brief moment of unresisting stuper, that he is surrounded with a circle of burning hostility, before which his sham laurels wither, and his paper throne crumbles and turns to ashes. It is a fate which he has invited and deserved.

STATE OF AFFAIRS IN EASTERN MEXICO—ANTICITY PATPO ATTACK ON MATAMORAS.

[From the Brownsville (Texas) Flag, Aug. 1]

Since the date of our last publication, the political horizon of our neighbors has grown still more dark and emineus, though as yet the storm has not burst forth. The little band of liberators at Victoria still hold their ground, and the new formed gubernatorial cabinet issues its orders with all the confidence of a firm establishment. They have established a paper, the first number of which we have before us. It is called La Federacion—The Federation—and is quite scalous in the cause of regeneration. We have before us the plan upon which these men propose to operate. It is quite brief, embracing only four articles. The first of which solemnly refuses to recognize the diotatorial government of Santa Anna, which they assert has destroyed the federal government of the States for the purpose of substituting in its stead the voluntary caprice of a single man; the second declares the federal compact of the state for the purpose of substituting in its stead the voluntary caprice of a single man; the second declares the federal compact of the state force and effect that they had before dissciving the legislatures, and without prejudice to the reforms accorded by the national representation; the third annuls alt the laws and decrees of the unrecognized government, and reinforces all those formerly in existence by the republic and the State; and the fourth declares that with the ostablishment of peace and order in the State a provisional government will be formed, with all the powers which, under the constitution, circumstances may render necessary.

We learn that the towns of Tula, San Carlos, and San Fernando have joined with Victoria in the revolutionary movement, and the new government is gaining strength daily. It is rumored, though with what truth we know not, that in the vicinity of Matamoreous the revolutionary exp ertain demonstrations, apparent to every one here, would indicate that it was entitled to some cre-would indicate that it was entitled to some credence.

Gen. Woil, the commandant of the forces in Matamoras, has thought the indications sufficient to warrant him in issuing a proclamation to the people, urging them to be quiet and wear the yoke of the dictater, his master, without grumbling. This General grows quite logical, withal, in attempting to prove to the good people of this frontier that their condition has been actually bettered under the government of those who wear the collar of Santa Anna. He occlares it "as clear as the light of day" that, comparing the present with the past, a positive improvement is found. He then attempts to prove that a Congress, or, as he expresses it, a little Congress, composed of the representatives of the people is not adequate to the task of providing for a he public interests, insonach as this Congress is elected in compliment to the precepts of a governor, it would follow that it would be the quiet instrument of a despet, covering his most criminal acts with resolutions which he himself dictates, and thus destroying the only checks to the works of the evil deer, which is that of punishment.

MELANCHOET ACCIDENT.—A meiancholy instance of the effects of liquor, occurred lately at Lavaca, there a young man who had been drinking for some ime, jumped out of the third story window of the narchouse of Messurs. Fulton, Hensly & Co., and has so injured by the full that he soon afterwards inch. His name is George Le Jeune, a native of arbeen, New York.—Austin (Texas) State Gazette, Jeune.

Advices from Spain—Espartero and the Queen Mother—Cuba, in Regard to the Revolution—Prospects of Purchase in the Future—Senor Cueto and his Successor—Our Consular Agent to Curacae and his Difficulty with the Dutoh Governor—Mr. Galaden and the Fugitive Slove.

Private advices from Spain represent the position of Espartero as anything but enviable. He may banish Du Camarilla and the intigging woman Christina from Madrid—even from Spain; but their influence will be felt from Paris or London, or, if they should go so far north, even at St. Petersburg. Meanwhile, it is not likely that Mr. Soulé will be instructed to press at once the purchase of the island of Cuba; i naced, I doubt whether he was ever charged with such a commission. Cautious overtures were, no doubt, thrown out here, in Washington, of which Mr. Cueto might have availed himself, if he had been empowered from Madrid to do so. The impression created here was that Mr. Cueto would, ere long, have expressed his willingness to negotiate for the sale of the island, and that from a hundred to, perhaps, one hundred and fifty millions of dollars would have been tendered for it by the Unitee States. It remains now to be seen whether the new Envoy Extraordinary who will be sent out by the Duke of Vittoria will be instructed to make similar overtures, or waether he will simply be authorized to announce the advect of a more liberal commercial policy, not only as regards Cuba, but Spain herself. One thing, however, remains certain—viz., should Espartero be overthrown by a loyalist party, and the Queen Mother restored to her former influence, there will be no difficulty in effecting a cash transaction for the island. The nervus rerum of the new status will be maintainable only by large pecuniary sacrifices, for whi h net her the Spanish treasury nor its credit could possibly prove sufficient.

Our Consular Agent, Mr. Young, has just returned from Curacao, having got into cifficulty with th

Gov. Marcy is about to take the subject in hand, together with other matters approaching a settlement of our difficulties with his Majeety of the Netherlands.

Mr. Gadsden, our Minister to Mexico, will no doubt be sustained in his determination to refuse protection for grant passports as citizens of the United States, to fugitive slaves in forcing countries. In case the abolition faction should get hold of this isolated fact, and cistort it for their own purpose, I would here state that there have been many precedents for the act of our Minister to Mexico, and that in every instance the government here has sustained its Minister abroad. Ministers of European powers have never been known to protect their fugitive subjects in foreign countries, though they have claimed, and sometimes tried to kidnap them, for the purpose of inflicting summary punishment upon them.

The Know Nothing Movement.

A correspondent of the Boston Chronicle, who belongs to the United American or Know Nothing organization, writes as follows in regard to what the mysterious and invisible spirits of the order are thinking of doing at the November election in Massachusetts:—

The Know Nothing organization seems to be raging like an epidemic throughout this State, grappling rich and poor, high and low, men of all shades in politics, and nothing in particular.

These that know say positively that they will roll up a vote 80,000 strong, and what they say you may rely upon with confidence—for every man is signed, scaled, cocked and primed, and when the signal is given, you may depend upon it, you will see a whirlwind, such as party managers have never before witnessed.

Very many lodges in the towns of this State control two-thirds of the voters, and in the whig city of Boston they have nearly a majority.

There seems to be a little perplexity as to whom to they have nearly a majority.

There seems to be a little perplexity as to whom to hominate for Governor. There are a number of aspirants for the appointment, two of whom have figured somewhat convention of his agency, which was introesting, and exhibited a favorable state of things, appertaining to the subject of a prohibitory law. He had collected several hundred dollars for the Executive Committee. In many instances he liquor dealers gave more liberally than temperance men.

Mr. Buranan, of Dinwiddie, offered the following resolution:—

Resolved, That the friends of temperance in Virginia to urged to potition the courts of the Commonwealth to withhold tiennest to sell ardent spirits; and that the Executive Committee to instructed to prepare the form of petition for distribution and signatures.

The resolution was laid upon the table.

A motion was made that the resolution offered by Major Preston, during the afternoon seasion be taken up—withdrawn.

The Chairman of the Business Committee made the following report:—

Resolved, That the Executive Committee, appointed last year, he re-appointed, with the addition of Prestored field frent, in place of Samuel Reeve, deceased.

Whereas, an appeal has been taken from a decision of Judge Summers, wherein he declared that it was in the discretion of the County Court to issue license for the sale of wine, spirituous liquors or a mixture thereof, and whereas it is improfate in the decision that may be rendered: Therefore,

The first resolution, together with the preamble and second resolution of the committee, were unanimously adopted.

Mr. Struddy-Art, from the business committee, made a further report of the following resolutions for the action of the committee of the Charlotteeville Convention:—

Resolved, That is scovention re-spirm the doctrine of the Charlotteeville Convention, the spirit of the provision that such liquors found in one's passessio

Brooklyn City Intelligence.

Standard—Last evening a young man named Patrick, Feahan was stabbed by a colored man in Nassau street, between Jay and Bridge streets. It seems that Feahan stopped in front of a house occupied by colored people, in which there was prayer meeting. He locked in at the window, when a black man who was lying on the steps syddenly got up, and run a knife into his left leg. The blood flowed freely, and Feahan went in search of a physician, but could find name at home, and was finally met by a friend who conveyed him to the drug store corner of Bridge and I'llery streets, where his wound was bound up. The loss of blood made him weak and faint; but it is not supposed to be dangerous. Officer Morrell, of the First district police, aided him to his home, No. 200 Jay street.

COMMITIED ON THE CHARGE OF INCRET.—Yesterday Isaac S. Queen, who was last week arrested by constable Mundell, on the charge of committing a criminal assault upon his half sister. Eliza Queen, was brought before Justice Smith, of the Court of Special Sessions for a final hearing. The evidence proved that criminal intercourse had taken place on two different occasions, and the defendant was committed in full to answer the charge of incest before a Court of competent jurisdiction.

Annessen on the Charge of Reamy.—Yesterday officer Brady, of the Second district police, arrested a unin named James Duffy, on a warrant issued by Justice Stewart, of New York, it appears, was married to him about a year and a half ago at St. Patrick's Church, New York, it appears, was married to him about a year and a half ago at St. Patrick's Church, New York, it appears, was married to him about a year and a half ago at St. Patrick's Church, New York, it appears, was married to him about a year and a half ago at St. Patrick's Church, New York, it appears, was married to him about a year and a half ago at St. Patrick's Church, New York, it appears, was married to accused in St. James Church, Livepool, in 1851, both appeared at the Second distric FINED FOR EIGHTMA.—Patrick McGee, Wm. Denohoe, Charles Baxter, and Bernard Kearney were brought before Justice Blachley yesterday, on the charge of disorderly conduct and rioting at the Hamilton ferry on Saturday night. They were convicted, and the first named was fined $20, and each of the others $15.

THE CHOLERA.—Yesterday five cases were reported to the Brooklyn Beard of Health for the previous forty-eight hours. There are at the Hospital nine cases, of which eight are convalencent. One death occurred there on Sunday.

The Indian War in New Mexico.—It would seem that the times have been somewhat stirring of late in New Mexico, by reason of the war that is being carried on with the Jicarilla Apaches. In order to hasten the termination of the campaign, the Governor of the Territory has called into the field 400 militia—200 in San Miguel, and the same number in Rio Arriba count; one beigade has already marched, and the balance is getting under arms as fast as possible. These troops are good, and will give a good account of themselves if they should meet the red skins; but their appearance is described as rather amusing. In dress they should meet the red skins; but their appearance is described as rather amusing. In dress they should meet the red skins; but their appearance is described as rather amusing. In dress they should meet the red skins; but their arms are as various as their uniforms; some have guns, and some are armed with hows and arrows, while others have followed the example of "Little David," and have gone forth with slings in their hands. It is sery fortunate that the arches and slingmen require no powder for their expines of war, because just now it is an article more procious than gold dust, in this far off region. The whole force is mounted; some lawe two horses, both of which, as a matter of course, they ride at the same time, which adds much to their estectiveness. Several Indians have been made prisoners, and are new in close confinement. Anniversary of the Battle of Contreras was celebrated on Saturday last, at Rocky Point, by a portion of the Ninth, or New England regiment which served in the late war with Mexico. Those present were escorted to the steamer Chicopee by the First Light Infantry. The officers of both the artillery companies in this city honored the occasion by their presence. The day was pleasant, and was passed most agreeably by all. At the dinner, Gen. Joseph S. Pitman presided with ease and dignity. He nattrated some very pleasant, as well as stirring reminiscences of the battle of Contreras, and of the entrance of our army into the city of Mexico, which were received with marked favor. A glowing tribute to the great commander of the American forces, awakened feelings of the utmost enthusiasm. In response to the regular toasts, announced by the president, short and pertinent speeches were made by General James, Colonel Howard, Colonel Brown, Colonel Andrews, Colonel Howard, Colonel Brown, Colonel Andrews, Colonel Handing, Captain Dyer, Judge Manchester, Mr. Miller, of the Post, and others. Captain Dyer spoke in behalf of the ladies. He was witt, poetical and graceful. It was the speech of the day. Considering that the gallant Captain is only "a poor bachelor," as he depreciatingly said of himself, it was a most happy and folicitous effort. On returning to the city, "the survivors" were received under a salute of artillery, and escorted to the City Hotel by the Infantry. The next annual meeting of the regiment will be held in Boston, in September, 1855.—Providence (R. I.) Journal, Aug. 21.
